

Master Degree (2014) in “Science and Technology for the Conservation of Cultural Heritage”, La Sapienza University of Rome and PhD in Chemistry under the joint supervision of Ca’ Foscari University of Venice and University of Trieste . Now she is a post –doc at the university of Uniroma3 and the topics of her research regard, most of all, the conservation of stone materials and paintings.